Man Shot Dead Along Alaska Road

Companion Quoted As Saying Killing Was Accidental

DAYTON, O., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The disappearance of John McComas, 32, of Dayton and his 13-year-old daughter on a trip to Alaska was solved today. He was shot and killed 100 miles north of Dawson Creek, B.C., Sheriff Ben Smith announced.

Gustav Wiegner, 24, of Dayton, who accompanied him, has been found with the daughter, Louise, in Bushnell, Neb.

The McComas left Dayton Aug. 4 after answering Wiegner's advertisement for a companion to share a trip to Alaska.

Smith said Wiegner told him after the shooting "he became scared and pulled out," and that later he found McComas' purse, containing $2,000, in his car.

Authorities here did not know whether McComas' body had been found.

Smith began a search when Alfred McComas of Minneapolis, O., told authorities he believed his brother had been slain.

A telephone call from Wiegner in Bushnell to his wife here led to his being taken into custody. Mrs. Wiegner has filed suit for divorce.

SUSPICION AROUSED

Authorities here said a Bushnell newspaper clipping listed Louise as Wiegner's daughter. This, plus a report that Wiegner had paid $100 for a tavern lease aroused the suspicion of O. L. Hall, Wiegner's father-in-law, who went to police.

RCMP authorities here said today that they had not been informed of the death of McComas or of the arrest of Wiegner.

Officials here said that the case would probably be handled entirely by the British Columbia Provincial Police since the incident occurred in an area policed by that force.

No report of the finding of a body in the area has been made to RCMP here.

Missing Flyer Found by Trapper

PAPER TRAIL, of notes, in the fashion of a children's "treasure hunt" led a rescuing trapper to Dr. V. B. Murray, American pilot lost in the bush for 16 days following the crash of his light airplane on Grande Prairie. Dr. Murray is shown relating story of his experiences in the RCMP station, Grande Prairie.

RESCUE SPOT, where missing flyer was found, is indicated on map by Gordon McCulloch, brother of rescuer J. McCulloch, who found the flyer and took him to Wemby ranch, a distance of about 60 miles, by pack horse. Gordon McCulloch drove the injured pilot to Grande Prairie hospital by automobile from Wemby.

WEEK-LONG AERIAL SEARCH for the missing aviator was directed from Grande Prairie by RCMP Flying Officer Thomas Cook. With him is Department of Transport weather observer D. R. Jacques, who placed his private aircraft at disposal of searchers and flew it himself in the unsuccessful hunt for the lost American.

Yesterday he opened a fresh box and out tumbled 120 rings and just enough cereal for one small helping.

Russia Severs U.S. Consular Ties

MOSCOW, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Russian government, reacting sharply to the expulsion of the Soviet consul-general from New York, has chopped off all consular ties with the United States.

The action entails the closing of Russian consulates in New York and San Francisco, the closing of a United States consulate in Vladivostok and the voiding of an agreement granting the United States the right to open a consulate in Leningrad.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Soviet Vice-Consul Zet I. Cherpinsky left the Russian consulate shortly after 3 p.m. EDT today and told reporters he was leaving "for good." He said he was on his way to Lugaard airport.

It grew out of what has become known as the Kasenkina affair, the case of a Russian school teacher, now in a New York hospital, who has been subject of an international tug-of-war on the highest diplomatic levels.

The United States state department Aug. 24 asked the Russian government to recall Jakob M. Lomakin, Soviet consul-general in New York, because of his activities in the Kasenkina case.

Alberta Moose Shipped East

Ten moose from Elk Island Park are to be shipped to Cape Breton Highlands National Park.

Dr. B. L. Love, park superintendent, said the loading of the animals into a railroad car is a tricky proposition, as moose are a very strong and nervous animal.

In the eastern park, the animals will join eight others from Elk Island, shipped last year.

The plan to move the animals was approved by the federal government. Cape Breton Park's larger wild life season became extinct there before 1900.

Farmers Unions Will Discuss Amalgamation

Amalgamation of the Alberta Farmers' Union and the United Farmers of Alberta will be further discussed at a meeting of the two organizations held here at 2 p.m. today in the Corona hotel.

A free dance, sponsored jointly by the Musicians' Union and the City Recreation Commission, will be held in the USO building Friday at 8:30 p.m.

Convention Window Here Tonight

Western hospitality dozed westward tonight as night at Edmonton's Kinmen played host to about 500 visiting Kinmen here for the 7th annual Kinmen convention.

In blue denim jeans, colored shirts and 10-penny hats the local Kinmen entertained the delegates at a banquet and dance in the Troadero ballroom.

During Tuesday afternoon delegates were left free to enjoy the city as they wished. Many took advantage of the opportunity to tour the city, or went on a tour of the city.

Resolutions respecting club activities were considered Wednesday morning, to be followed by election of officers during the afternoon.

The President's Hall to be held Wednesday night in the ballroom of the Macdonald hotel will mark the closing of the convention.

Giant Yellowknife Pours First Brick

Giant Yellowknife, the mine that electrified Canadian gold mining circles, had its first official gold brick poured in an elaborate ceremony Tuesday.

A large crowd of leading businessmen and government officials were on hand for the occasion in Yellowknife.

Original making of the present Giant properties was carried out by Hugh Muir and Jack Baker, of the Huron mining group, in 1935.

Discovery of the actual ore-bearing vein, probably the richest in Canada, was made through a serendipitous geological deduction by Dr. A. Stuart Davidson.

DRILLING PROVED

Diamond drilling proved the correctness of the Davidson's theory. Others who played a great part in the original strike were Don Cameron and the late John Muir, former Giant president.

Master of ceremonies at the gold brick pouring was Mr. C. H. Cammell, former Canadian deputy minister of mines and technical adviser to the government.

Mr. Cammell read a message from the Hon. J. G. Bennett, Minister of Mines and Technical Surveys, who predicted other big finds from geological surveys in the north.

PRESENTATION

General manager of the Giant mine, Ken Muir, presented the brick to Hon. James A. MacKinnon, Minister of Mines and Technical Surveys, who presented it to W. C. Ross, of Ottawa, master of the ceremony.

Many Edmonton businessmen made the trip north for the ceremony.

It is expected the Giant will be producing the rate of 300 tons a day by Christmas when more electric power will be available.

Stringing Pretty Beads Keeps Kiddies Occupied

Here's the fifth in The Bulletin's series of keep-busy games for kiddies who have to stay at home because of the polio-mystic ban. Miss Sidney Fleet, supervisor of handicrafts for the Recreation Commission, is author of the series.

Today she tells the youngsters how to have fun with beads.

Says Miss Fleet, little people and everyone can string gypsy beads—boys and girls, little people and everyone.

To string beads, you will first need to go out to the back yard and gather such things as rose hips (those red berries on wild rose bushes), pumpkin seeds, catnip seeds, and squash seeds. Then look for you can color the catnip and pumpkin seeds with nail polish.

TASTY TOO

Jelly beans make nice necklaces and bracelets, and they're quite tasty. You can string these with toothpicks or clear to keep them for a long time.

Colored string put up into pieces about one inch long, make very colorful beads. You must push through the side of the straw and then string all the different colors together. Pull them with clean nail polish to keep them from bending.

If you can't get any nail polish, you can have a lot of fun dyeing your beads.

Put a few bits of dye into a pan of cool water, and mix it up until it is dissolved. Then put in the seeds you want dyed and allow them to absorb the color.

When they have turned color, take them out and let them dry. They'll be ready to use.

PRETTY COLORS

Not only colors like just before Pumpkin seeds turn very pretty colors. Why don't you try some of your own ideas, only be sure and don't make too much of a mess for Mother to clean up.

If you get enough beads, why not dress up like a cowboy?

So they for now.

Four Persons Injured In Traffic Accidents

Motor vehicle accidents in Edmonton city and district Tuesday and early today sent four persons to hospital, none of them seriously injured.

Victim of a truck-bus collision on No. 16 highway about eight miles east of Edmonton early today, Eugene Gyep, 3631 84 avenue, sustained back injuries.

The truck which was driving collided with an on-coming Greyhound bus, said to be driven by W. H. Blach, Edmonton. The injured man was taken to the University hospital by bus.

Motorcyclist Charles Corp, 2720 92 street, and his passenger, Hubert Bick, 1246 68 street, were riding when struck by an oil truck and suffered the curb at 92 street and Cassano Road Tuesday.

A seven-year-old boy, John Taney, 8225 100 street, escaped with minor bruises and shock when he was knocked down by an oil truck and suffered the curb at 92 street and Cassano Road Tuesday.

Mr. Lever has sold his farm in Great Britain and is expected to start fairly large scale ranching operations in the Red Deer district soon.

He conferred Tuesday with Mr. R. Moore, deputy minister of economic affairs, and arranged to meet members of the Alberta cabinet sometime next week.

Mr. Lever has represented a large group of well-to-do British farmers, who were interested in transferring their interests from England to Canada.

His conference with Alberta ministers will deal with the question of British currency restrictions, and other bottle-necks against increased British immigration to Canada.

Speeder Fined Total Of $25

Travelling on city streets at speeds between 55 and 57 miles per hour, cost Arthur Love, 11112 88 street, $25 and costs in police court today.

His driver's license was suspended for three months.

Police clocked Love driving on 88 street, 111 avenue, and the Trail at excessive speeds early this morning.

The school is planned for benefit of displaced persons arriving in this country, and others wishing to learn the English language.

The board was advised that there are presently about six hundred persons, recently arrived in Edmonton, who would benefit from such a course of instruction.

R. B. Shepherd, superintendent of education, advised the board that it was expected that the special grant, made by the provincial government, would be sufficient to cover the cost of operating such a class.

Election Officials Get 1948 Pay Boost

Officials who worked in Alberta's August 17 provincial election received a bonus in pay through an order-in-council given cabinet session Tuesday.

Election officials at the legislative buildings complained the increased rates were only applicable to the 1948 election, and were set to compensate for the extra work involved in handling the power plebiscite ballot.

Returning officer's stipends were increased from $115 to $106, and election clerks from $125 to $100. Deputy returning officers at each poll are to get $10, instead of the $8 originally set for their services.

No Isolated Colonies, Please

The four or five thousand Netherlands families that the Hon. James A. MacKinnon says are coming to settle in Canada during 1949 will be immensely welcome in this country.

But they will be doubly welcome if the immigration authorities quietly intimate to them that it would be desirable if they do not purchase land in large blocks and establish isolated communities of their own.

The people of the Netherlands make excellent settlers. They make first class citizens. They are sturdy, resourceful, determined and capable. There is no race of people on earth for whom Canadians have a higher respect and liking.

But, to speak very frankly, that respect and liking will only continue, so far as the new settlers are concerned, if they come here determined to be Canadians.

A great many European nationalities, Poles, Ukrainians, Germans, Italians, Balts, Scandinavians and others, have made an effort to integrate themselves into Canadian life. They have conferred a benefit upon themselves and upon Canada.

But others, such as Mennonites, Doukhobors and Hutterites, insist on huddling together and holding on to their own customs, language and citizenship.

Canada loses and they lose. The fact that these several thousands of Dutch families are coming here with money to purchase land increases the danger that they might be tempted to establish themselves in such colonies.

They should be warned against it. For as much as Canadians admire the Netherlands, they want no transplanted bits of the Netherlands in Canada.

For Greater Christian Unity

Representatives of 145 Christian churches and communions have formally inaugurated at Amsterdam the World Council of Churches.

The work of this World Council, which has existed in provisional form only for the past ten years, will be to secure a greater measure of unity among all Christian bodies so that the spiritual energies of humanity, as applied to world needs, will not be dissipated in controversy and overlapping.

Practically every non-Roman church has sent a delegate or delegates to Amsterdam. The Roman church has held aloof, sending only observers, because its doctrines do not permit any co-operative effort that might conceivably lead to doctrinal compromise.

But it should be emphasized that the purpose of the World Council is not to effect doctrinal unity. No amalgamation of communions, which might demand a compromise on teaching, is contemplated.

The churches or communions will merely work together to release a greater wave of spiritual energy into the affairs of the world.

The need for such a renewal of spiritual standards, politically and economically, has been emphasized for years by clergy and laity alike.

And that need has been intensified by the scientific discovery of great new physical forces which can either prosper the world or destroy it, depending upon the good and evil of the Christian viewpoint of the men who employ them.

During the war and since the war there has been much talk of a "brave new world." The experiences of the past few years have shown very poignantly that a new world is impossible of attainment without a new mind.

For the world can never be better than the men who inhabit it. It is for the purpose of adding to the spiritual stature of those who hold the destiny of the earth in their hands that the World Council of Churches has been formed.

Canadian Way Is Better

It is regrettable, in a way, that the machinery set up by the United States to deal with subversive activities in that country should partake so alarmingly of the nature of a threat.

There is no doubt that the gentlemen who compose the congressional committee on Un-American Activities are sincere and intelligent in their work. There is equally no doubt that government agents who have done the preliminary investigating to expose Communist plots and stratagems are capable and honest.

But the issue is being tried too freely in the press. From the time, last year, when half of the movie colony of Hollywood was moved to Washington for purposes of probing into the present situation, when charges and counter-charges are being flung about like bad-guys in a comic opera, the whole procedure has lacked dignity and apparent direction. It is making colorful news at the cost of impressions.

It is the policy of the congressional committee to place its goal in the end. But, in the meantime, the farcical quality of the proceedings with politics obviously playing an unwarranted role, will not impress nations on the fringe of the iron curtain with the efficiency of democracy.

Canada's method of dealing with the Soviet spy ring did impress them. The investigations in this country were carried out quietly and efficiently by the Mounted Police and when evidence was accumulated it was placed before the properly constituted courts—where it obviously belongs.

The Canadian way is notably better.

JACK'S Beating the Races In His Day Dreams

Afterwards, when the world was his oyster, Henry Pludger could have retired and begun his life as a millionaire. He had gone to the races that was his wife, Sybil, and had been away to a summer camp, taking little Vladimir with him. Henry had been lonely and at loose ends. When one of his fellow bettors had suggested a day at the race-track he had accepted with pleasure.

Reouting Bus Lines

Editor, Bulletin.—I noticed in the Saturday Bulletin where the superintendent of the Transit System intended to make changes in bus routes. August 26th on 124 street by turning the Jasper route bus at 108 avenue going north.

I hope Mr. Ferrier will not give the West End people the rotten deal they received last winter at this point while making street car connection in freezing weather.

People north of 108 avenue pay their share of transit travel and should get a little consideration when planning the re-route of transit lines.

Confidence Of People

Editor, Bulletin.—The significance of repeated victory for the Aberhart government in Alberta should cause even thoughtful people to be alarmed.

We say the Aberhart Government because through the faithful teaching of that great leader, Mr. Aberhart, the present Alberta government was born.

Mr. Aberhart believed in education for the young and for the old. He believed in the deep knowledge of the meaning of the people to seek good.

He believed in the Premier Manning and his cabinet hold the confidence of the people.

A Federated Europe Could Offset Clash Of East With West

A poll of correspondents covering the Moscow conference shows that they believe a Western effort to continue a four-power conference will result.

There are hints that, for the sake of avoiding a break, the Western Powers may abandon setting up a West-German government. A faction of the state department favors this.

This column doubts the wisdom of setting up a Western state at this time. So far Germany is in a state of confusion. It is not yet clear whether it will be a free state or a puppet state.

If we look this as a basis for action, we would be entitled to believe that the settlement of the white German impasse might be achieved. Indeed, a well-informed source in Moscow suggests as much. And with such a start we shall have a new world peace.

However, if our analysis leads us to the conclusion that the first must recall the fundamental situation of Moscow to carry out world revolution for the destruction of "capitalist" governments and for the establishment of Communism in all countries.

We must start from that premise. We must recognize that Moscow does not want peace for the reason that it would block Bolshevik's aim of Communism in the world. They might make truces for self interest, but these would be only pauses in the global revolution.

U.S. Embargo Lifting Causes Cattle Glut

AFU Will Ask For U.S. Cars To Ship Cattle

Canadian railways will be asked by the Alberta Farmers' Union to obtain U.S. railway cattle cars to alleviate the shortage in this province.

AFU president, Carl Stimpfle, told The Bulletin Tuesday night that his organization will ask Canadian railways to get U.S. stock cars, because the car shortage here has resulted in glutting of Edmonton stockyards with cattle.

City cattle dealers have stated they are "seriously hampered" in shipping because of railway car shortage here.

Terrific sales of cattle by Alberta farmers has crowded city stockyards.

Because many of these cattle must be held at the yards, livestock dealers have suffered extra feed costs, and the glut has resulted in slightly lower prices here.

AFU is asking for U.S. cars to assist marketing.

Some livestock dealers have asked their country buyers to let the cattle purchases until the stockyard glut is lessened.

Railways here have promised they will do everything they can to assist marketing, but it is expected the car shortage will remain because of the Dominion-wide cattle glut.

As it takes at least a week for U.S. bound railcars to return to Canada, after shipping,

City Stockyards Overcrowded As Cars Short

Edmonton cattlemen are beginning what may be the biggest boom in their history. Meat consumers may have to pay for it.

Following the recent lifting of the embargo on Canadian cattle shipping to the U.S., orders for Alberta cattle are pouring into the Edmonton stockyards from all over the United States.

Within the past week, city dealers have received cattle from Chicago, Portland, the Dakotas, St. Paul, Chicago, Seattle, Spokane.

City cattle dealers have stated they are "seriously hampered" in shipping because of railway car shortage here.

Terrific sales of cattle by Alberta farmers has crowded city stockyards.

Because many of these cattle must be held at the yards, livestock dealers have suffered extra feed costs, and the glut has resulted in slightly lower prices here.

AFU is asking for U.S. cars to assist marketing.

Some livestock dealers have asked their country buyers to let the cattle purchases until the stockyard glut is lessened.

Railways here have promised they will do everything they can to assist marketing, but it is expected the car shortage will remain because of the Dominion-wide cattle glut.

As it takes at least a week for U.S. bound railcars to return to Canada, after shipping, grain-fed cattle shipped last Friday to St. Paul got 35¢ cents per pound, probably the highest price in Edmonton history.

In the meat-hungry U.S. (which can't buy Mexican cattle this year because of an epidemic of hoof and mouth disease in Mexico), choice steers and heifers are selling at 28 to 30 cents per pound, compared to Canadian prices of 21 to 25 cents per pound.

Although for livestock men told The Bulletin Edmonton's stockyard boom is "not sensational or alarming," they agree that the U.S. market is a "wonderful outlet."

"The situation proves that Canadian consumption can't handle production," said Lee Williams. "If we had the cars we need, we could have any cattle left in the stockyards," he said, referring to U.S. demand.

Best Ever

"Canadian cattle are as good as any in the world," said O. A. Brown, of O. A. Brown, Ltd. "The situation (surge of U.S. orders for Alberta cattle) proves that Alberta cattle is Canadian cattle production."

No livestock men would prophesy that the glut in the stockyards in Edmonton as a result of the export boom.

Marketing indications are that prices will rise, but during the past week, prices have been steady and a slight recession here. "Prices are settling somewhat after the jump which took place when the embargo was lifted," said one.

Possible Drop

"If farmers keep pouring in low grade cattle (those which should be fattened in the coming grass season) and we can't ship them, prices will drop."

(An Ottawa report received Tuesday stated that wholesale beef prices for medium-grade steers slipped to levels prevailing before lifting of the embargo, because of glutted stockyards.)

GILBERT AND SULLIVAN'S ever-popular music will be brought to Edmonton this September by these two men, Barry Breden (left), manager of the Breden-Savoy Gilbert and Sullivan Opera Co. of Los Angeles, Calif., and Blake MacKenzie, of Edmonton, head of Prairie Concerts Ltd. booking agency. The Mikado Coming to Town To Open City Music Season

By DICK SHERBANUK

Edmonton's music season is going to start out with Gilbert and Sullivan this autumn.

For one week, beginning September 27, the Breden-Savoy Gilbert and Sullivan Opera Co. will present three G. and S. favorites. The Mikado, HMS Pinafore and the Pirates of Penzance.

One show will be presented each night in Westglan High School Auditorium.

There will be a special matinee, at reduced prices, for children. Booked in Edmonton by Prairie Concerts Ltd., the Breden-Savoy troupe is being sponsored here by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

30-WEEK RUN

In an interview Tuesday with The Bulletin, Barry Breden, manager of the comic opera company, said that the four-year-old show has run 30 weeks in San Francisco, 14 weeks in Hollywood, has appeared three seasons in Vancouver, has travelled through most of the U.S., and last year played at the centennial of the Mormon church in Utah.

Mr. Breden, a large, well-known, with a gentle sense of humor intends to take his troupe right across Canada this year.

In doing so, he will be re-igniting what was once a well-travelled field—the legitimate stage in Canada.

Ontario Native

A native of Kingston, Ont., Mr. Breden had his first interest in the theatre awakened by the travelling stock companies and vaudeville shows, which brought world-famous artists to Canadians all across the Dominion, earlier in this century.

In the days when Edmonton's Empire Theatre stage was trod by world-famed artists, Mr. Breden was getting his first applications of grease paint.

Since those theatre-active days, he has become a manager with more than 60 productions in his scrap book and years.

He has spent almost all of the last 25 years in the U.S., but has returned his Canadian citizenship, "always intending to return," he said.

He's beginning his return with the Gilbert and Sullivan company.

Because the near-death of the legitimate stage in Canada is coupled with an ever-present interest by the Canadian people in the theatre, Mr. Breden thinks it's about time the travelling theatrical company in this country is revived.

He hopes to bill a light opera group through Canada permanently, perhaps accompanied by other branches of the theatre.

Since Canadian artists have proven themselves in U.S. show business and since he is looking for talent to further his own managerial ends, Mr. Breden is willing to audition any Edmonton and district singers who feel they can qualify on the stage.

Auditions

Anyone seeking an audition, which is private, may make arrangements through Blake MacKenzie, Prairie Concerts Ltd., Bank of Toronto Building, Edmonton.

Mr. Breden, who says he is 39 years old—"The same age as Jack Benny" (he has been the same age as Benny ever since the time he was billed on the same program as the Jack Benny-Phil Baker team in vaudeville days)—hopes he is starting a precedent for other U.S. touring companies.

He hopes to come to Canada, but has stayed out because of lack of accommodation in so many centres. Edmonton isn't the only place without a concert hall, he told The Bulletin.

Aeroneers Elect Randall As Head

A veteran Canadian Pacific Airlines pilot, Robert Randall, Sr., has been elected president of the Edmonton Model Aeroneers.

Other new officers elected were: Harold Haight, vice-president; R. Chapin, secretary; John Penner, treasurer.

Thirty members of the club attended the recent meeting at which the new slate of officers was elected.

The club will stage a display of model aircraft in the city hall, where a new club is being formed Sunday.

Four Men Are Sought

Red Cross authorities are making second effort to trace James Thomas, Patrick and Joseph Parsons, last known address Camp 500, Apartment 120, Edmonton.

Enquirer is John Parsons, a brother, who lives at 78 Pembroke street, Toronto.

The men sought are all brothers who were separated about 30 years ago in Newfoundland, where they had lived in an orphanage.

The father's name was Joseph Parsons, and the mother's, Bridget Parsons, nee Kelly. All were born at Bonne Bay, Newfoundland.

Freak Fires in Homes Keep Firemen Busy

Freak fires were responsible for eight of the 63 fire calls to which the city fire department responded during July.

Among the odd causes were bread crumbs igniting under the oven of a kitchen stove in one home; gas leaking on the street from a parked auto and a tractor overturning and catching fire.

Three other alarms were turned in when lightning struck a home, a garage and an electric light pole on July 27 during a severe thunderstorm.

Hotel Fire

Two of the freak fires were caused by a cigarette butt lighting a cushion in a home, and by spontaneous combustion occurring in a downtown hotel.

BEF ON THE MOOF and plenty of it is passing through Edmonton stockyards these days. U.S. cattlemen are giving city livestock men more orders than can be filled, in what may be the biggest cattle boom in history. Meat-hungry U.S. has already received more than 4,000 head of cattle and calves in the past week. This herd of about 100 head is on the Weiler and Williams feed lot in North Edmonton, ready to go south.

Budgeters Cringe At New-High Prices

By Bea Thrifty

Well... spaghetti it is for the main spring of the menu from now on. The likes of us and probably the likes of a lot of you find it a handful of trouble to buy meat on a limited budget.

Yesterday was the day meat prices did that soaring we've been expecting for two weeks.

Dealers reached the end of their supplies purchased at the old prices... and you certainly can tell when you enter a butcher shop.

Everything from the royal T-bone to the lowly Bologna has been upped in price.

Looks suspicious as if many of us shall have to seek our proteins elsewhere.

There's cheese and eggs, and there's eggs and cheese. However things that go up have to bounce back, we hope!

Last roses of summer are fading... but surely the likes of a lot of you find it a handful of trouble to buy meat on a limited budget.

The colors are so rich and warm, the flower so long-lasting. All it lacks is a distinctive scent. But with the miracles of grafting and cross breeding, flowers... who knows what they'll bring out next!

Wool rocks, to a faithful array of sparkling colors and fluttering styles are doing many a cruel thing to a poor girl's budget.

Many are under the $20 mark... but when every other phase of living is so costly... there's

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Anonymous Contributions Not Accepted for Print

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

I am happy to print contributions to this column which I feel pass on advice of merit. Personal experiences are always helpful and mothers like to know how other mothers manage.

But, I must reiterate, that anonymous contributions, however good, will not be used.

I feel that if my own name, not a pen name, appears at the head of this column, that a contributor can do no less for me. Everyone knows, from experience, that no name is ever used. The letter is destroyed after its column appearance and that is the end of it.

I am making a point of this to it disappoints me to throw good letters away, but I have to know that this is a real person with a name and address, even though they are never used.

This makes it more understandable to readers why it is impossible for me to send them names of writers, whose letters they would like to answer from personal experience. It is too bad that we cannot do this, but the mail is too enormous to see in this way.

It would mean keeping a file of letters and that would soon become prohibitive of space and time.

I long to help readers whose difficulties come within the scope of my capacity from personal experience. But I can help with feeding the normal child, and to make the parent better acquainted.

Send your letter to The Edmonton Bulletin, Pattern Department, 10 Front Street, W. Toronto, 1A. On. Please allow a week or 10 days for delivery.

WHY GROW OLD

Vanity Suffers When One Is Overweight

By Josephine Lowman

Another letter from a marathon winner! It has been very difficult to choose the letters to print because I have had so many wonderful ones. I have tried to select those which have human interest and show the effect of overweight on personality and also those which bring up some important factor in weight reduction.

Today's letter: "I want to thank you for the self-improvement marathon and to keep my promise to let you know the results. I just finished nine weeks instead of eight."

"Weight, before, 141 pounds. Weight, now, 127 pounds. I am 5 feet, 2 inches tall. My bust was 36 inches, and is now 34 inches. My waist was 32 inches, and is now 29 1/2 inches. My hips were 38 inches and are now 36 inches. My thighs were 21 inches and are now 19 inches."

"My weight did not go down as much as I wished but I am not too worried about it since my measurements are about right except that I need to take off a little more in the waist."

"I like my new self. For about five years I had to buy a size 16 dress and the shoulders would drape down over my arms, although I could barely fasten the dress at the waist. Now size 12 fits perfectly, with no drape and no squeeze."

"I must add that the old saying 'vanity must suffer' is certainly true. The diet didn't bother me so much except leaving off fried meats but, oh, those exercises! At first I looked like a hippo trying to do tricks, and every muscle in my body ached."

"Now I do them with only a few grunts. As a matter of fact, I can do them better than other

Many women give up exercise because their muscles become sore at first. If they would just stick to the exercises for a week or ten days, all of this discomfort would disappear and they would begin to enjoy a sense of fitness and aliveness, physically, that they had forgotten since early youth."

If you would like to have a routine which will help you reduce successfully, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request, for leaflet No. "General Reducing Routine," to my telephone number in care of this newspaper."

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Unwanted Bride Wise To Leave Husband

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young woman who has been married exactly two weeks and already I am having husband trouble.

My husband seems never to want to spend any spare time with me. He either wants to play golf, or go to see his mother, who lives only a short distance from us.

He never takes me with him and it makes me feel that he doesn't love me and that he isn't ready to settle down.

The trouble seems to be that he knows I will always be at home when he returns. He has said time after time that he wishes he were married and that he doesn't love any woman.

I am ready to settle down and it makes me feel sort of funny inside and think maybe I am a fool for keeping hanging on to him.

Should I give him the break he asks for?
